Reduce Crime and Enhance the Quality of Life in the City of Milwaukee.

Message from the Chief

At the start of the year, I set three goals - reduce crime, increase clearance rates and reduce the number of citizen complaints against Department members. Commanders were asked to develop creative ways to achieve these goals. Several initiatives were tried and found to be successful.

At District Three, police aides are being used more efficiently to assist the community liaison officers and community prosecutors with issues that negatively impact the quality of life for residents. Not only does their research and increased interaction with the public aid in the reduction of crime, but it also enhances their career development. The police aides seem to enjoy doing more than clerical duties, and are truly learning how to make a difference in the lives of others.

A pilot program utilizing pole cameras in zones with high criminal activity began in November. Test units were placed in both north and south side locations, allowing direct video feeds to our Communications Division. This new tool in fighting crime is of great interest to the community with neighborhood residents voicing support. As funding becomes available, additional equipment will permit the images to be downloaded into squad-mounted cameras.

Entry and approval of on-line offense reports was completed during 2006. There were some "growing pains" associated with this transition; however, this component of the new records management system will improve our crime reporting capabilities. Following new reporting guidelines, we are now submitting crime statistics using WIBRS and NIBRS criteria. This differs tremendously from the Uniform Crime Reporting guidelines that were used for many years and the results cannot be accurately compared.

The field training officer program was revised to enrich the development of police officers by providing them with better training, quality oversight and valuable evaluations. The program guidelines place a strong emphasis on professional conduct and high law enforcement standards.

Operating with a large number of police officer vacancies, extensive cruising, and several extensive investigations, we were limited in our ability to deploy personnel. Again, new ideas were tested. A three-prong summer initiative plan was developed to provide more flexibility in patrol during the busy summer period and still permit us to assign resources to areas in need of intervention. Once an area or "hot spot" was selected, an advance team would analyze crime and gather intelligence for the target area. This determined where an enforcement team was sent to saturate the target area on pre-determined dates and times. Following this saturation, a mobile community resource van, staffed by community volunteers offered information and services available to individuals in need. This three-tiered approach permitted area residents to see a visible presence of resources in their neighborhood.

Tactical Communication training was provided on a Department-wide basis to empower all members to provide service with courtesy, dignity, and respect. These methods permit controlled communication during stressful and sometimes emotionally charged encounters.

Crisis Intervention Training began with select members receiving forty hours of specialized instruction on how to interact with individuals experiencing mental crisis. De-escalation and new communication methods provide officers with an alternative to arrest and permit the individuals to receive the treatment or exposure to resources they truly need.

Almost 20 members of the Hmong community attended and graduated from our Citizen Academy.

This educational opportunity will enhance our ability to understand and communicate with this growing population and foster an appreciation of both cultures.

Several major rules and procedures were updated following supervisory and union review. One of the most important involves untruthfulness. Lying is unacceptable in law enforcement and cause for dismissal because it negatively impacts the integrity and credibility of officers and diminishes their ability to testify in court. It also damages the trust we are trying to restore in the community.

The Mayor, Police Department, and other city departments are collaborating to reduce violence in Milwaukee. Several violent crime summits were held to discuss the root causes of violence and its impact on our community. Along with the discussion on crime, reduction strategies were shared. Violent crime is rising throughout the United States, forcing law enforcement to look for new ways to address this issue. Many feel an emphasis must be placed on the development of our youth before we will see reductions in the future.

Department members participated in interviews as part of the Best Practices Review of the Fire and Police Commission. Numerous recommendations were made to strengthen the Commission's oversight authority. The Department is most interested in updating our testing and hiring procedures. Initial contacts have been made to evaluate perpetual hiring, although a number of employment and legal issues must first be resolved. It is hoped that changes in internal and external procedures will provide the Department with qualified employees to enhance our policing efforts.

Each strategy or new initiative that we try helps to make our city safer. I must recognize the members of the Milwaukee Police Department, for it is their performance each and every day that results in criminals, guns, and drugs being removed from our streets. I will continue to search for new ways to reduce crime, enhance our services, and improve the quality of life in Milwaukee.

Office of the Chief

THE OFFICE OF THE CHIEF CONSISTS OF THE PROFESSIONAL PERFORMANCE DIVISION, BUDGET AND FINANCE DIVISION, PUBLIC INFORMATION OFFICE, RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT DIVISION AND THE COMMUNITY LIAISON.

Professional Performance Division

Mary Hoerig
Deputy Inspector
Professional Performance Division

Deputy Inspector Mary Hoerig was the commanding officer of the Professional Performance Division during 2006. The Professional Performance Division is made up of the Internal Affairs, Criminal Investigation, Risk Management and Background Investigation Sections.

The Internal Affairs Section is tasked with investigating complaints against members of the Department. These complaints are generated either internally or as a result of a citizen complaint. Of the 1,135 complaints received during 2006, 190 allegations were sustained. Each of the seven detectives assigned to the section completed 28 investigations during the year and monitored each case as it moved through the criminal justice system.

The Background Investigation Section investigates the background history of individuals that apply for employment with the Milwaukee Police Department. Several changes have been made to the background investigation process, such as a more liberal use of disqualifying information, the Chief's ability to object to a candidate and psychological examinations. These changes have increased the level of work for the personnel assigned to the section. Based on the two anticipated academy classes in 2007 and the likelihood of continued separations from the Department, it is expected that the workload for the background investigators will continue to increase.

The Risk Management Section is made up of the Civil Litigation Unit, Early Intervention Program and Records Request Section. The Civil Litigation Unit acts as the designee for the Chief of Police and Milwaukee Police Department regarding civil process and also investigates large claims against the city. In addition to completing 36 claim investigations this year, they also transitioned from a manual tracking system to a computerized system, and plan on transferring all taped internal interviews to computer discs. The equipment required for this project will be purchased with asset forfeiture funds. A proposal for the Early Intervention Program (EIP) was developed and a database was established in 2006. The sergeant assigned to oversee the process has been working diligently with the vendor to tailor the program to meet the needs of the Department as well as address problems and concerns with the system. It is hoped that EIP will be online by April, 2007.

Office of the Chief

Budget and Finance Division

Barbara Butler
Administration Manager,

The Budget and Finance Division is responsible for the preparation and justification of the Department's financial matters, as well as its accounting, budgeting and purchasing activities.

The Department relies on capital project funds, the city's operating budget, asset forfeiture funds, and federal, state and local grants. Capital projects are one-time large projects for which the city borrows money. The operating budget is the amount of the property tax supported budget that is allocated to the Department. Asset forfeiture funds are awarded to the Department by the federal courts from money the Department seized during drug related arrests. The Department continuously works to acquire funding through various grants.

Public Information Office

Anne E. Schwartz
Public Relations Manager

The Public Information Office is responsible for the dissemination of information to the citizens of Milwaukee concerning the Department and its activities. The office utilizes all available media formats and the Department's website. The office also disseminates information to members of the Department through memos and an inter-department newsletter, The M.P.D. Extra.

Research and Development

The Research and Development Division is responsible for the preparation, drafting and updating of Departmental rules and procedures, directives, memos and general and special orders. The division is involved in the maintenance and update of operational manuals and conducts research on police issues and technologies.

Community Liaison Officers

It is the policy of the Milwaukee Police Department to establish, provide and maintain open lines of communication with all citizens and cultural groups in the community in a professional manner. The Community Liaison Officers coordinate this commitment by promoting cooperation, establishing and maintaining public trust, developing and forging partnerships with the community as well as bridging cultural differences between Department members and different cultural groups within the community.

Office of the Assistant Chief

Joseph D. Whiten
Assistant Chief of Police

THE OFFICE OF THE ASSISTANT CHIEF OF POLICE CONSISTS OF THE FIELD INSPECTION DIVISION AND THE INTERGOVERNMENTAL SERVICES DIVISION.

Intergovernmental Services Division

The Intergovernmental Services Division is made up of the Property Control Section, License Investigation Unit and the Municipal Security Section.

The Deputy Inspector of the Intergovernmental Services Division is the liaison for the Department and all outside entities, to include elected officials on the local, state, and federal levels and private partnerships as well.

A notable accomplishment for 2006 was the implementation of the Crisis Intervention Team (CIT). CIT officers receive 40 hours of intense training in dealing with people suffering from a mental crisis. The Department currently has 120 CIT officers and plans to have 25% of the first responding patrol force trained within three years.

The Property Control Section is responsible for all property coming into the possession of the Milwaukee Police Department. In 2006, the section received in excess of 93,000 pieces of property, including general property, money, narcotics and guns.

The Municipal Security Section provides security for the mayor at all events and provides security for the three building municipal complex. This allows for the safety of elected officials and citizens visiting or conducting business in or around City Hall. In most cases, officers assigned to the Municipal Security Section are able to handle calls for service and complaints coming to their attention, which allows district squads to remain available.

The License Investigation Unit (LIU) investigates and processes city license applications, request and renewals. This year alone, they performed 9,775 license investigations. The LIU is also tasked with the random annual inspection of all taxicabs, limos, shuttles, horse and surreys and pedi-cabs in the city. In 2006, the LIU inspected 562 taxis and 141 other passenger vehicles. These inspections resulted in 44 vehicles being taken out of service for vehicle safety issues.

They are currently gearing up to get the Department enrolled in an employee self service system, which will allow Department employees to access their personal information, paycheck information, and benefit information from their home computer.

Administration Bureau

Central Records Division

Anthony B. Hendricks
Captain of Police

The Central Records Division is responsible for the gathering and storage of all reports, correspondence, and other data as it relates to criminal activity. It is also responsible for maintaining all records relating to traffic accidents and administering compliance with the Wisconsin State Statutes relative to access to records in the custody of the Department. It is comprised of the Records Management Section, Open Records Section, and the Traffic Records Section.

Records Management Section

In 2006, the Records Management Section completed the Department wide conversion to the Tiburon Automated Reporting System (ARS) and Records Management System (RMS). This system provides all Department members with immediate, desktop access to all incident reports. In addition, an online reporting system, CopLogic, became available to the general public on a limited basis and was used to report 226 incidents. The following are some of the other accomplishments of the Section in 2006:

- 4,966 new missing person records were processed through CIB/NCIC.
- 1,028 fire reports were processed
- 833 sudden death reports were processed
- 1,476 sick and injured reports were processed.

Also, in 2006, the FBI conducted a TIME system audit of the stolen vehicle and missing person's records maintained by the Records Management personnel. Stolen vehicle records were error free, while only two errors (which were not the fault of Records Management personnel) were located in the missing persons file. This is a remarkable achievement for an agency of our size.

Open Records Section

The Open Records Section is responsible for the compilation, review and dissemination of Department records as mandated by the Wisconsin State Statutes pursuant to the Open Records Law. In 2006, the Section processed 28,307 requests resulting in the release of 112,779 records.

This year, the Section processed 92,851 traffic citations. In addition, the Wisconsin Department of Transportation provided the Department with the TraCS Program, which allows our officers to electronically issue and process traffic citations. To date, 264 citations have been issued using this system.

Patrol Bureau

Dale T. Schunk
Deputy Chief of Police
Patrol Bureau

David Vahl
Captain of Police

David Vahl was the commanding officer of the Patrol Support Division during 2006.

The Patrol Support Division consists of all the "specialists" in uniform. They are diverse in their functions and are deployed throughout the city, freeing up district personnel for other duties.

Among one of the most visible units in Patrol Support are the police officers and horses assigned to the Mounted Patrol. They have become a familiar sight downtown, near Marquette University and in the Historic Third Ward, as they perform patrol duties. The Unit also conducts crowd control at large events and participates in public relations demonstrations. In 2006, the Mounted Patrol performed over 5,000 hours of service at special events.

The officers assigned to the Motorcycle Unit are an effective means of traffic and crowd control during large events. In 2006, they facilitated pedestrian and traffic control at 147 special events. They also investigate motor vehicle accidents citywide and excel at enforcement of traffic laws.

The members of the Tactical Enforcement Unit are highly trained officers who assist the patrol force. In addition to conducting search warrants, they are trained to handle subjects with weapons and barricaded persons. They can respond rapidly to violent crime offenses throughout the city. They recently won the bid to host the 24th Annual National Tactical Officers Association Tactical Operations Conference to be held in Milwaukee during 2007.

The Harbor Patrol Unit is made up of 12 officers that patrol Milwaukee's navigable waterways on three boats between March and October. Not only do members of the Unit conduct search and rescue operations, ticket violators of boating regulations and escort stranded boats back to safe harbor, but they also monitor our local waterways as part of anti-terrorism efforts.

The Underwater Investigation Unit played an intricate part in the search for two missing juveniles this spring. As a result of this tragic situation, many Milwaukee area businesses, citizens and local government entities collaborated and raised over $29,000 to start a "Learn to Swim" program, which provides free swimming lessons to inner city youth. 388 youth took advantage of this program in 2006, and hopefully, many more children will benefit from this program in the future.

The Accident Reconstruction Unit is comprised of specially trained investigators that are able to reconstruct the dynamics of an accident to determine pre-impact speeds of the vehicles, as well as pre and post crash events based on physical evidence. This year, they conducted 186 fatal or serious traffic accident investigations. They also investigated an additional 367 hit and run accidents, clearing 318 of them. In addition to their regular day-to-day assignments, the Accident Reconstruction Unit assisted the Criminal Investigation Unit with numerous investigations, including the Falk explosion.

Patrol Bureau

Planning and Operations

Planning and Operations is responsible for the planning, logistics and staffing of police personnel for all special events in the City of Milwaukee.

These events include Brewer home games, Summerfest, U.S. Bank fireworks, presidential motorcades, the ethnic festivals, parades, runs/walks and various other special events. The Division planned and arranged police coverage for 159 special events and 1,006 daily events throughout 2006.

District One

Linda Haynes
Captain of Police

In 2006, the commander of District One was Captain Linda Haynes.

District One provides police service to the vital downtown area. The area is home to many commercial enterprises, government buildings and private residences. It has a large commuter population and is the cultural magnet of arts and entertainment. The downtown area has a reputation for being an extremely safe and friendly area within the City of Milwaukee.

During 2006, the dedicated men and women of District One continued to maintain the high quality of life in the downtown area and ensured an orderly and safe environment for those who work, shop, and visit the area. This dedication resulted in a fifty percent reduction in burglaries to businesses in the downtown area. District One personnel also provided safety and security for several major conventions that were held this year, including those of the National Rifle Association and the League of United Latin Nations.

The Court Administration Section is located in District One. It is responsible for processing and handling state misdemeanor cases at the District Attorneys office, processing municipal citations through Municipal Court and monitoring the Department personnel and resources relating to the multi level judicial system.

District Two

Eduardo Negron
Captain of Police

In 2006, the commander of District Two was Captain Eduardo Negron.

District two abuts beautiful Lake Michigan and is home to one of the most diverse populations in the city of Milwaukee. Among some of the areas of interest in District Two are the Caesar Chavez Drive area, which is enjoying a resurgence in business and home investment; Mitchell Street, home to many retail institutions, among them the famous Goldman's Department Store, and the historic Bay View neighborhood. The Third Ward borders the District and is also responsible for some of the renewed interest in the area.

During 2006, District Two was home to many church festivals, the South Shore Water Frolics, and the annual fireworks on July 3rd, which brought large crowds and traffic to the lakefront. District Two officers met the challenge; the public enjoyed a spectacular display and were able to go home safe and happy.

2006 was an interesting year for the personnel assigned to District Two due to the major renovation taking place in the station. Although this work temporarily displaced the workers, it did not affect their commitment and dedication to the community they serve. The renovation was finally completed in May and is a showcase to the hardworking men and women of District Two.

District Three

James Harpole
Captain of Police

In 2006, Captain James Harpole was the commanding officer of District Three.

Within the boundaries of District Three are many different and diverse neighborhoods, each with its own challenges. Captain Harpole and his officers met these challenges through a variety of innovative techniques. District Three implemented a "Corner Grocery Store" initiative to target the sale of drug paraphernalia at small, neighborhood grocery stores. A two-officer foot patrol was deployed in the Metcalfe Park neighborhood, which is currently undergoing economic redevelopment. The early feedback on this new foot patrol has been positive. Also, Captain Harpole has started a much publicized neighborhood walk initiative that encourages community-based organizations to sponsor regular walks with the police and community. These walks include squad officers, community liaison officers, community prosecution team members, the District Three community prosecutor, patrol sergeants, lieutenants and the Captain. Six neighborhoods have now started their own regular monthly walks.

In 2006, District Three also established regular monthly meetings with owners of some of the most problematic properties in the district. This has proven to be an effective tool in clearing up neighborhood nuisances, such as drug activity, prostitution, curfew violations, and alcohol related offenses. These meetings are attended by the Captain, the Community Liaison Officer and the community prosecutor and his team. Remedies to cure the nuisances are discussed at these meetings and follow up meetings are scheduled to ensure compliance with abatement efforts.

Patrol Bureau

District Four

Eric Moore

Captain of Police

In 2006, Captain Eric Moore was the commanding officer of District Four.

Several Directed Patrol Missions, or DPM's, were initiated in 2006 to address citizen concerns. Officers involved in the Summer Violent Crime DPM arrested almost 300 subjects. During the Holiday Presence DPM, which was in effect during the Christmas holiday, officers patrolled area shopping centers and businesses. This resulted in a safer environment for holiday shoppers, as well as the arrest of 45 subjects.

Twenty commercial businesses were integrated into existing neighborhood block watches. These businesses assisted the block watches and law enforcement by providing information on critical issues as well as improving and sustaining public safety. The success of this integration has far exceeded the expectations of the affected block watches and businesses.

Chief Hegerty, along with area Aldermen and a representative from Mayor Barrett's office met with block watch captains during an informal meeting hosted by District Four. The purpose of the meeting was to recognize the dedication of the block watch captains and the difference block watches have made in the community.

District Four, along with the Havenswoods Economic Development Corporation, hosted the 2006 National Night out on August 1, 2006. The event was an unparalleled success with well over 600 citizens in attendance. The National Night Out resulted in strengthened neighborhood spirit and police/community partnership.

District Five

Michael P. Massa

Captain of Police

In 2006, Captain Michael Massa was the commander of District Five.

Although there are many dedicated officers assigned to District Five, several late shift officers have been working extremely hard to fight crime. These officers are responsible for the seizure of almost 50 firearms and 70 felony arrests, including a suspect wanted for homicide.

One of the busiest areas for the officers of District Five has been the neighborhood surrounding UW-Milwaukee, which has become home to many of the UW students who chose to live off campus. This year, a Field Intern Program was started at UWM to evaluate and develop strategies to improve relations between students that live off campus and the residents in the area. Quality of life issues such as under-age drinking and noise nuisance were some of the areas of concern that were addressed. This program was such a success that it will continue into 2007 and an additional intern will be added.

District Six

Gary Meyer
Captain of Police

In 2006, Captain Gary Meyer was the commanding officer of District Six.

During 2006, District Six was awarded a Weed and Seed grant for the Historic Clarke Square Neighborhood. The grant resulted from the efforts of interested citizens, government agencies, and District Six personnel. There is every indication that this grant will result in a reduction of crime in the area and an improvement in the quality of life for everyone.

Police Officer Charles Roessler, assigned to District Six day shift, was the recipient of the American Legion Law Enforcement Officer of the Year in 2006. This national award recognized Officer Roessler for his years of service to the Milwaukee Police Department as well as many hours of volunteer work.

District Six

District Seven

Donald Gaglione
Captain of Police

In 2006, Captain Donald Gaglione was the commanding officer of District Seven.

Throughout the year, there were many notable efforts from members of the community to work with the department to improve the quality of life for everyone. Among some of the efforts worth recognizing are the over 450 meetings and presentations attended by members of District Seven.

During a summer-long collaborative effort by Fox 6 and the Milwaukee Police Department, 35 new block watch groups were started in District Seven alone.

The Fourth Annual Youth Leadership Conference was held in April and was attended by 420 middle school aged children. The conference featured workshops on drugs and alcohol abuse, peer mediation, sexual assault, as well as a myriad of other topics. This event proves its success as it continues to grow each year.

District Seven, along with Liberty Mutual Insurance and St. Josephs Hospital, offered a program to 60 automobile owners to etch their vehicle's identification number onto the auto's windows. This crime prevention method is designed to help prevent a car from being stolen and to prevent the vehicle from being resold if stolen.

District Seven's auxiliary officers volunteered over 1,200 hours to the community throughout the year and were named the Auxiliary Unit of the year in April, 2006.

District Seven hosted their National Night Out celebration in August in Dineen Park. Although it was well over 100 degrees that evening, almost 600 citizens from the area came out to attend the event.

Criminal Investigation Bureau

Brian O'Keefe
Deputy Chief of Police

THE CRIMINAL INVESTIGATION BUREAU IS COMPRISED OF THE HOMICIDE, CRIMES AGAINST PERSONS, CRIMES AGAINST PROPERTY, INTELLIGENCE, SENSITIVE CRIMES AND VICE CONTROL DIVISIONS. THE BUREAU INVESTIGATES AND MANAGES CRIMINAL CASES IN THE CITY OF MILWAUKEE.

Homicide Division

Captain David Zibolski was the commanding officer of the Homicide Division during 2006.

In 2006, the Homicide Division investigated 103 homicides, which was a 16% decrease from 2005. Seventy-four homicides were cleared, for a clearance rate of 71.8%, up from 71.3% the previous year. The Division worked cooperatively with the Milwaukee Homicide Review Commission to identify causal factors in homicides and prevent future offenses.

2006 was a challenge for the Division with several high profile homicides receiving attention from the public and the media. These cases involved a double homicide in South Shore Park, a triple homicide involving a young mother and her small children, and the murder of a delivery person in the Riverwest area. With the assistance of other units in the Department, these homicides were solved and arrests made, relieving anxiety in the community.

Recent advances in technology and forensic science have provided detectives with new tools to help with investigations. A new plotter was purchased enabling the printing of diagrams. Also, several members of the Division have attended seminars to further their knowledge of biological evidence and impart the knowledge gained to other members.

Crimes Against Persons Division

Darlene Jenkins
Captain of Police

Captain Darlene Jenkins was the commanding officer of the Crimes Against Persons Division in 2006.

There were several high profile incidents during the year that were investigated by the Division's personnel. One involved an incident in which shots were fired into the home of a witness who testified during a homicide trial. The investigation took several months, but resulted in charges being issued against the suspect by the District Attorney's Office.

Detectives recovered and processed a large number of robbery offense video surveillance recordings, which were then released to the media to help identify suspects responsible for the robberies. In addition, robbery detectives lectured at seminars for employees of financial institutions and worked cooperatively with suburban police agencies on multi-jurisdictional robberies.

Criminal Investigation Bureau

Crimes Against Property Division

James C. Shepard
Captain of Police

Captain James Shepard was the commanding officer of the Crimes Against Property Division in 2006.

The High Technology Unit investigates computer crimes, including internet predators and financial crimes. In cooperation with the FBI, several successful investigations resulted in the arrest and prosecution of adults who attempted to meet with children for the purpose of facilitating sexual contact and/or possession of child pornography.

The Auto Squad has purchased a wireless Automatic Vehicle Security and Location System (AVSL). This system will be installed in a "bait car", which will be placed in an area experiencing a high number of auto thefts. Once the vehicle is taken, it can be traced and when the time is appropriate, the vehicle is disabled and the suspect taken into custody.

The Recovered Property Unit investigates second dealer transactions and salvage dealers. In December, 2006, as a result of joint efforts with Districts Four and Seven, several salvage operations were ticketed for violations of the junk dealers and collectors regulations.

The White Collar Crimes Unit has experienced an increased workload as identity theft has become more prevalent. Unit personnel have held meetings with other agencies to investigate the formation of a task force to address this multi-jurisdictional problem.

The Fire Investigation Unit personnel have attended training with the National Fire Academy and other courses during 2006. As a result of this training, the investigators assigned to the Unit have increased their expertise and improved their professionalism.

Sensitive Crimes Division

Debra Davidoski
Captain of Police

Captain Debra Davidoski was the commanding officer of the Sensitive Crimes Division In 2006.

The Sensitive Crimes Division is responsible for the investigation of sexual assaults, crimes against children, domestic violence related crimes and truancy. The Division currently has 14 police officers and detectives trained in conducting advanced forensic interviews. Due to the exceptional working relationship with the Child Protection Center, members of the Sensitive Crimes Division have been allowed access to their facilities after hours to conduct video taped forensic interviews of child victims. In 2006, the Milwaukee County Child Neglect Protocol was also finalized. This protocol is based on collaboration between the Department,

Bureau of Milwaukee Child Welfare, the District Attorney's Office, Milwaukee Public Schools and the Health Department to share information regarding any documented history on victims or suspects that will assist in criminal investigations.

Criminal Investigation Bureau

Intelligence Division

Michael D. Young
Captain of Police

Captain Michael Young was the commanding officer of the Intelligence Division in 2006.

2006 was a successful year for the Intelligence Division. There was an increase in the amount of seizures and arrests made during the year as well as a substantial increase in the number of search warrants served.

Four major street gangs were dismantled in 2006; the Murda-Mob, 2-6 Vice Lords, 1st and Keefe Vice Lords, and the Simon City Royals. The members of these gangs were arrested and prosecuted as a result of diligent investigations and cooperation amongst the various units of the Department and other agencies.

A new cooperative effort was formed in 2006 called the Southeastern Wisconsin Terrorism Alert Center (STAC). STAC allows members of the Milwaukee Police Department, the Milwaukee Fire Department, the Milwaukee Health Department, the Milwaukee County Sheriffs Department, the State of Wisconsin Department of Justice and the FBI to collaborate regarding terrorism and crime related incidents. The purpose of the exchange of information is the protection of the citizens we serve.

Timothy Burkee
Captain of Police

Captain Timothy Burkee was the commanding officer of the Vice Control Division in 2006.

The Vice Control Division participated in a large investigation in conjunction with a federal agency involving the drug "ecstasy". As a result of the investigation, over 2,400 grams of ecstasy were seized (which is an increase of more than 350% from 2005.) There also were increased seizures of heroin, methamphetamine, and other drugs.

A detective was assigned to the Human Trafficking Task Force thanks to a federal grant. The detective assigned to this task force also conducts awareness training for other Department members.

The Vice Control Division moved into re-designed space on the sixth floor of the Police Administration Building in December, 2006. The remodeling is a much-needed improvement to the work environment and appears to have had a positive effect on the staff, improving effectiveness and efficiency.

Vice Control Division

Gregory Habeck
Captain of Police

Captain Gregory Habeck was the commanding officer of HIDTA and MMDEG in 2006.

HIDTA (High Intensity Drug Trafficking Area) MMDEG (Milwaukee Metropolitan Drug Enforcement Group)

The HIDTA and MMDEG programs provide state and federal funding to facilitate the collaboration of local, state and federal law enforcement agencies to investigate drug trafficking organizations, gangs and violent crimes. HIDTA provides intelligence and technological support to the investigations.

The HIDTA program has located prosecutors for the District Attorney and U.S. Attorneys offices in the same offices as law enforcement personnel. This approach has lead to more cooperation among the various criminal justice entities and has proven to be efficient in prosecuting suspects.

The MMDEG is a task force made up of officers from the Milwaukee County Sheriff's Office, West Allis Police Department, Milwaukee Police Department, South Milwaukee Police Department, Glendale Police Department, and the Milwaukee County District Attorney's Office. The duties of the MMDEG are to investigate drug crimes in the Milwaukee County area.
